

From: Richard Colclasure
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 12/2/01 11:13pm
Subject: anti-trust settlement

Ladies and Gentlemen:

The settlement is a virtual mirror of Mr. Chamberlain's selling out the British in 1930's. The browser fiasco was the thing many people saw of the trial but that is not the point at all. We are now going to pay the Troll (Mr. Gates) a fee far more consuming than we ever did with pirates off the Barbary coast. Too bad Mr. Bush doesn't fight this troll with the vigor he has shown us. Every day brings a new crime from the innards of Redmond. Talk to the big Windows users of corporate America and ask them what the toll fee is? They have been paying it and know what it costs.

Thanks for listening to us,

Dick Colclasure

klc@dsl.essex1.com